PT546 Christ, Culture and Contextualization (1 credit)

Richard Lints, PhD | Room 4

Jan 12–15, Tues–Fri, 1:15–4:30 pm

This course explores a biblical theology of contextualization and seeks to evaluate different models for ecclesial cultural engagement and the meaning of “faithful contextualization”. Questions central to the course: How does the church live into its identity as a covenant community faithful to the Word? How does a church avoid cultural capitulation? What does a missionary encounter with a secular age look like? How does the Gospel story relate to the stories of our times?

- Prerequisite: none
- This course can be used to fulfill the 1-credit Missions elective requirement for PT511.

PT627 Missions in Europe (1 credit)

David Stoddard, ThM | Room 5

Jan 26–29, Tues–Fri, 1:15–4:30 pm

What can the worldwide church learn about evangelism and church-planting from the European church? Europe was the first continent to be Christianized, the first to be de-Christianized and hopefully the first to be re-Christianized. This course explores the key political, social, economic, and religious influences affecting Europe’s church context today. Particular attention is given to current trends in missions to Europe and best practices for evangelism and church-planting. The aim of this course is not just to educate students about Europe, but to equip them to apply lessons learned to evangelism and church-planting in their own local church context.

- Prerequisite: none
- This course can be used to fulfill the 1-credit Missions elective requirement for PT511.

PT550 Catechetical Preaching (1 credit)

Danny Hyde, PhD | Room 4

Jan 19–22, Tues–Fri, 1:15–4:30 pm

This course focuses on the principles and practice of catechetical preaching. The principle of catechetical preaching will be surveyed by a study of its biblical foundations in the Old and New Testaments, its historical practice in the ancient church through such preachers as Ambrose, Augustine, Cyril of Jerusalem, and John Chrysostom, and its particular practice among the Reformed churches, both on the Continent and in England. These principles will be applied to the practice of catechetical preaching today with a review and evaluation of both the catechism-text method and the Scripture-text method of preaching catechism sermons as well as with examples and suggestions on crafting such sermons to be Scripturally-saturated, Christ-centered, and soul-sustaining.

- Prerequisite: PT410; PT500
